Vision, aims & objectives

The Blue and Green Strategy sets out our long-term approach to protecting, maintaining and enhancing Enfield's blue and green spaces and routes.

Our ten-year ambition is to be the greenest borough in London at the heart of the capital's national park (see section 3 of the strategy).

The vision has been developed from the review of baseline evidence set out in the audit of the borough's parks, open spaces, woodlands, rivers and wildlife sites (as summarised in section 2 of the strategy).

2. How far do you agree with the portrait of the borough's blue and green network and summary of the issues and challenges it faces?

Enfield's blue & green infrastructure framework

Section 4 of the strategy identifies the key elements that make up the borough multi-functional network. This includes:

- corridors of movement (e.g. cycle/pedestrian routes and wildlife connections);
- important assets (e.g. country parks, lakes, reservoirs, rivers and tourist attractions);
- centres of activity (e.g. event venues and civic spaces); and

- areas of change where investment will be focussed to address future priorities (e.g. Edmonton, Enfield Town and Meridian Water).

This network consists of a range of different functions, locations, sizes and levels of accessibility and use, from the strategic to the site-specific level

6. How far do you agree with the proposed locations of the corridors, nodes, areas of change and the emerging interventions?
